What will happen at my appointment?

Your GP has referred you to the Adult Hearing Aid Department at Mount Vernon Hospital for an assessment of your hearing.

You will be asked some questions about your ears, general health and any situations in which you are having difficulty hearing.

We will then look into your ears and check that they are healthy and free of wax; this is important to enable us to do a hearing test. You will listen to a series of sounds presented through headphones and be asked to press a button every time you hear a sound. This allows us to measure the quietest sounds you are able to hear. We may also do a pressure test to check how well your eardrums are moving.

We will explain the hearing test results to you, and if you decide that you would like to try hearing aids we will show you what they look like and explain what to expect. All of our hearing aids are digital and 'behind-the-ear' styles.

Depending on the level of your hearing, we may need to take impressions of your ears on the same day. This is a painless procedure which involves having a small sponge and some soft putty inserted into your ear for a few minutes.

A further appointment will then be booked to fit your hearing aid(s) and show you how to use them. Depending on the outcome of your hearing assessment, we may refer you on to the Ear, Nose and Throat Department (with your consent). We will write back to your GP with the outcome of your hearing assessment.

Who will I be seen by?

You will be seen by a qualified audiologist who is registered with the appropriate professional body.

How long will my appointment take?

Approximately 45 minutes. We aim to see you on time but occasionally clinics can be unavoidably delayed. We will keep you informed of any delay to your appointment.

How do I prepare for my appointment?

If your GP did not look in your ears, please arrange to have them checked for wax before your appointment. If you wear glasses, please bring them along with you.

Will there be any side effects?

No, however if there is anything that you are worried about please mention it to the audiologist on the day.

What if I don't need or want hearing aids?

Not everyone needs or wishes to try hearing aids. We can also provide information about assistive listening devices and communication tactics, and are able to refer to our Hearing Therapist at Hillingdon Hospital for further support.

If you would prefer not to have a hearing assessment, please contact us as soon as possible on 01895 279343 so that we can offer this valuable appointment to someone else.

How to find us:

By bus: Bus numbers 8, 282, 331 and H11 stop at Mount Vernon Hospital, directly outside the Treatment Centre.

Where is the Adult Hearing Aid Department?

We are situated in the Treatment Centre (see map overleaf). Please check-in for your appointment either at the Treatment Centre reception or using the self-check-in machines. Then go through the double doors on your right and take a seat in the waiting room.

Your ticket number will be called and shown on the screens in the waiting room when the audiologist is ready to see you. Please then make your way to the appropriate clinic room.

If you are worried about hearing your number being called please speak to the receptionist.
